FAREWELL PARTY FOR REV. KJOLHEDDE

Rev. Peter Kjolhede, who has been the pastor of the local Danish-Lutheran church continuously for the past 23 years is leaving Grayling, having preached his farewell sermon last Sunday to a large and appreciative congregation.

Rev. Kjolhede is 87 years old, and was ordained into the ministry 54 years ago. His pastorate previous to coming to Grayling was at Grant, Michigan, where he is returning to make his home. Rev. and Mrs. Kjolhede are leaving today and will locate on a small farm adjoining that of their son at that place. The Rev. is retiring from the ministry, however he says he will gladly give his services whenever called upon and for any occasion. He together with his estimable wife have labored to keep the local church in good standing and their efforts have not been in vain, as it boasts of a large, fine congregation, and many of the members have worshipped there for many years and during the entire time of Rev. Kjolhede's pastorate. Besides the church duties both during the earlier years conducted a school in Grayling in which the young people were taught the Danish language and had an opportunity to learn the fine points of their religion. Also Rev. Kjolhede has conducted a weekly afternoon reading club since coming here. Many of the ladies of the congregation were members and the meeting was held on Thursday afternoon of each week. Talks were given at each meeting by Rev. and Mrs. Kjolhede, and Danish songs, and readings by the members who looked forward to these pleasant gatherings for years.

The weekly reading circle was held this week on Tuesday and at the home of Mrs. T. Boesen. Following lunch, the group was photographed. To bid Rev. and Mrs. Kjolhede farewell, the members of the congregation gathered at Daneborg Hall last evening and enjoyed a pot luck dinner together in their honor. There was a large crowd in attendance at the affair.

Rev. Kjolhede in his 87th milestone is remarkable. He drives his own car and has made many long drives during late years. He is always in attendance at any district, state or national convention of his church and takes an active part in the programs. Being the ordaining minister for the United States he has been called to places far and wide to ordain young men into the ministry and it is such a trip out west.

The entire congregation of the Danish-Lutheran church and many other friends outside of the church regret the departure of Rev. and Mrs. Kjolhede from Grayling. They have been fine citizens and in leaving carry with them the well-wishes of hosts of friends.

Axel and Maritore Kjolhede of Grant arrived Wednesday to accompany their parents to their new home.

Succeeding Rev. Kjolhede is Rev. Hans Juhl, who comes from Canada, and we welcome that reverend gentleman into our midst. He will fill the pulpit next Sunday.

GOLFERS GO TO WEST BRANCH SUNDAY

A return visit will be paid by the Grayling golfers next Sunday, October 4th. The contest is scheduled to begin at 1:00 p.m.

All Grayling players are requested to be there to enjoy the event and to try to uphold the honors for the local club. Grayling had a decisive victory over West Branch upon their visit here September 20th. Can we do it again? No doubt our hosts will be cocked and primed for the event, so everyone be there to do his best to win.

GUARD YOUR TABLE READ THE LABEL

Housewives will find new words printed in bold-face type, upon the labels of some canned peaches, peas, beans, tomatoes, cherries, and apricots packed this season and going on the market now. These words are, "Below U. S. Standard; Low Quality But Not Illegal."

What do the words mean, and what should the housewife do when she finds them on a particular can?

The words mean that the national pure food law has been amended to authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to prescribe and formulate quality standards for all canned foods—meat and meat products, and canned milk. The Secretary has already announced official standards for peas, peaches, beans, tomatoes, cherries, and apricots, and these standards are now in effect. This amendment, popularly known as the canner's bill, further authorizes the Secretary to prescribe a designation to be printed upon the labels of canned foods that fall below the standards.

The canner's bill also gives the Secretary authority to define a standard fill for canned foods. Canned food shall be considered as of standard fill if the entire contents occupy 90 per cent or more of the volume of the closed container. If a buyer finds the words "Slack filled," on a can, she will know that the food in that container does not occupy 90 per cent of the volume.

A housewife with a limited amount of money to spend will be greatly aided in making her purchases of canned foods within the coming months if she will carefully read the labels on the containers," says Dr. P. B. Dunbar. "Nor need she fear that if she buys a can of food labeled with the 'substandard' designation that she is getting an unwholesome product.

"If the food actually were unwholesome, it would of course be subject to action under that measure. She need not hesitate to purchase a food branded, "Below U. S. Standard; low quality but not illegal," because that food will offer to be nutritious, if not the esthetic value of standard canned goods."

The housewife need not look for the wording indicating a substandard product on any canned goods, save the six mentioned, for some time to come. The standards for canned peas, peaches, beans, tomatoes and cherries, and apricots are all that have been formulated and officially announced to date. The Food and Drug Administration will work out standards for other canned foods as rapidly as possible, however.

APPOINTED MEMBER STATE MED. BOARD

DISTINCTIVE HONOR PAID TO DR. C. R. KEYPORT

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker has appointed Dr. C. R. Keyport as a member of the Michigan State Board of Registration in Medicine to succeed Dr. William Marshall of Flint who recently resigned.

This high honor comes to Dr. Keyport in recognition of the wonderful service he has rendered to humanity. Grayling can well afford to be proud to have one of its highly esteemed citizens represented on the above honorable Board. Dr. Keyport graduated from the Detroit Medical College in 1909 and served an internship at Harper Hospital and then came to Grayling as an associate of Dr. S. N. Inley.

For three years he was vice-president of Michigan State Medical society and also chairman of the District Health Board. He has acted as surgeon for the New York Central Lines and a senior member of the staff at Grayling Mercy Hospital for the past twenty years, and has enjoyed a far-reaching acquaintance in the entire northern part of Michigan.

GABBY GERTIE

State road commission has been summing to a number of road officials of 27 Northern Michigan counties at the Park Place at Traverse City, Friday, by Governor Brucker's recent relief commission. The session will begin at 10:30 (est.) and continue through the afternoon, according to William "Good Roads" Kelly of Grand Haven. J. W. Hart of Lansing, secretary of the Michigan Good Roads Association, and 18 of the high way department of all road officials in Northern Michigan counties is considered imperative in the case of unemployment relief this winter.

Unusually large attendance at the Michigan State Fair as well as at various county fairs and larger fairs visitors to the American Legion convention will bring the September tax revenue above the Sept. 15 figure of $2,000,579.

The Public Acts of 1931 as passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, have been indexed and printed and are ready for distribution by the Department of State. The price is $1.50 for the volume.

LAND OFFERED FOR OIL DEVELOPMENT

State owned land in Ogemaw, Arenac, and Midland counties will be offered for lease for oil development purposes at 1:30 p.m. in the Department of State at Lansing, October 2 p.m.

Some of the land is to be offered for lease within 12 miles of the Mount Pleasant oil field, and the leases to be granted will be on the basis of a sliding scale royalty. The rest of the land is "wild cat" territory.

The sale of leases is the first to be held by the Land Division of the Department of Conservation in a year, and follows applications for leasing of the land and results from the recent increase in the price of oil.

POTATO AND APPLE SHOW

CHOIR SINGING CONTEST

The Top Michigan Town and Country Choir and Chorus Singing contest held in connection with the Ninth Annual Potato and Apple Show at Gaylord, will be given more consideration than usual this year, due to the increasing number of entries each year.

The total premiums offered this year have been increased from $150 to $200, and the number of prizes from five to eight. This will allow more choirs to share in the prizes and help defray expenses of coming to Gaylord, according to B. C. Mellencamp, secretary of the show.

This contest is conducted under the auspices of the R. E. Old Community Music Fund and the Michigan State College. The two hundred and five dollars in prizes will be awarded as follows: First—$60.00; second—$40.00; third—$30.00; fourth—$25.00; fifth—$20.00, and the next three—$10.00 each.

The contest will take place at the Engle Auditorium on Friday morning after 10th, promptly at ten o'clock, Eastern Standard Time. This is the last day of the show.

DEPT. OF STATE

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Despite economic conditions of the last year, assets of building and loan associations in Michigan have shown a substantial gain. Department of State records show. At the present time, associations in the state, have total assets in excess of $167,000.

A survey of the industry by the building and loan division of the department, shows that the associations in the state are in "good" financial position according to Colonel C. Vaughan, division chief. In several localities, associations have been required to give 30 days notice according to law before withdrawing funds, but investigation by the department shows that this step, in every instance, has been taken as added protection to members.

Gasoline tax receipts for the months of August and September will exceed those for the corresponding months of 1930. Department of State records indicate. Complete figures for August will not be available but it is certain that the 1930 revenue of $2,171,000 will be exceeded.

Usually large attendance at the Michigan State Fair as well as at various county fairs and larger fairs visitors to the American Legion convention will bring the September tax revenue above the Sept. 15 figure of $2,000,579.

The Public Acts of 1931 as passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, have been indexed and printed and are ready for distribution by the Department of State. The price is $1.50 for the volume.

ODDFELLOWS SOFT BALL CHAMPS.

The Oddfellow Soft ball team defeated Vanderbilt Sunday afternoon, his bringing them their 7th victory for the season. Out of 11 games, they won seven.

Last Sunday the home team played Vanderbilt at Vanderbilt, the former winning with a score of 6 to 3. The Sunday previous the local defeated Vanderbilt at the latter town 18 to 12. These, it is claimed, are the only games Vanderbilt has lost during the season.

The local team has been playing under the management of D. D. G. P. Chris King, local manager, and the home games have been played on the Chris King lots on the South Side.

AUTOS KILL WILD LIFE

With paved roads and fast automobiles on the increase, the number of birds and animals killed on highways mounts steadily every year, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Very few small birds can fly faster than 25 miles an hour, and small land animals move much more slowly, specialists of the Biological Survey point out, so they have no chance whatever with a fast motor car. In the prairie regions of the country ground squirrels and jack rabbits suffer most, while in the autumn in the Eastern States the box turtle is perhaps the chief victim.

About the only subject on which there seems to be no difference of opinion is that an automobile is a necessity.

The New Hour System.

The new hour system is working fine. The students find they are doing better work as it is much easier to study under close supervision in the class room than in the session hall. With only six hours of work during the school day instead of the eight that we had last year, a student carrying the required four subjects finds himself with only two hours to study. This makes it necessary for him to apply himself strictly to the preparation of his lesson. The result is that the teacher in charge finds the sessions quieter. The short study period allowed in the classroom gives the student a chance to ask questions concerning the lesson for the following day.

WHAT'S THE MATTER, POP?

We hear a lot about hard times and periodical depressions, but we hear too little about the cure for same.

"They come every 10 years," says the statistician as solemnly as the music of owl hoots its nocturnal note.

Why they come, or whence they come, or are they inevitable, are seemingly unanswered, if not unanswerable, interrogatories.

If panic were plague, and it is even worse, expert hygienists by the score would bore to the very cause of causes, and be ready to avert its recurrence.

We wonder if fully ever stop to think that possibly they themselves may be the cause of cataclysms like the present, and those of the past?

We say: "In peace" prepare for war?

Should we not also say: "In prosperity prepare for panic?"

Why not?

Instead of that we ride the prosperity street at breakneck pace until it becomes windbroken and spattered, and breaks down under us, and then we wonder and wail, wail and wonder why it has to be.

Practically everybody in America in periods of prosperity, certainly a large majority of the people, lap up the juice of the prolific vine, and when the vine has an off year the people become very dry, distressingly so, and wonder why.

We take no thought of tomorrow, while draining the cup of luxury to day.

We spend money like drunken sailors' and expect money to rain down from the skies.

We not only spend all we have, but we mortgage the future and this so deeply that if the tide turns we are drowned in its reflux flood.

We decline to learn from experience.

We are affronted if anybody suggests that we lack the perspective, if not the perspicuity, of chipmunks, who invariably lay up something for the rainy—or snowy—day.

Are we incapable of making brain cells?

Are we indeed reasoning, sentient mortals?

Let's take an early autumn stroll around ourselves and ascertain what we look like anyway.

Bewailing conditions for which we ourselves are largely responsible will never ameliorate or change them.

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

LAW POPULAR

North Carolina following the lead of California and other states, has adopted a Financial Responsibility Law for motorists.

The law, of the familiar pattern, provides that a person failing to satisfy a judgment shall have his license suspended until he gives proof of financial responsibility, either through an insurance policy or a personal corporate surety bond.

This type of law is finding increasing support throughout the nation, and it is noteworthy that demand for unconditional compulsory automobile casualty insurance of the Massachusetts kind, is seldom heard. The experience of the Bay State, with its congested courts, rising accident record, faked claims and increased insurance rates has acted as a warning to other commonwealths.

One can find little fault with the Financial Responsibility Law. Its principal virtue is that it puts the responsibility and cost where it belongs—on those who cause accidents—and does not penalize the careful, responsible driver. The negligent motorist holds the financial sack—as he should.

In all probability it will not be long before an appreciable number of states have similar laws to the benefit of the public at large.

Any wife can keep her husband happy if she'll treat him as he's treated at his club.

LEGIONAIRES HOME
FROM CONVENTION

The local Legionaires have returned home from the big national American Legion convention held in Detroit, and report one grand and glorious time. Home folks no doubt after reading the various newspaper reports expected this, however to be one of the vast crowd is almost beyond one's imagination. Too, to have been one of the marchers in the great parade was a wonderful thing and will no doubt live in the memory of those who took part.

Driving into Detroit Sunday and trying to get to Woodward avenue and the downtown district was impossible. One had to park his car several blocks away and walk to hotels or places at which they had planned to make their headquarters. Legionaires were arriving for the big convention; the streets were thronged with people and the music from various drums and bugle corps, belonging to organizations, announcing their arrival constantly rang in your ears. This, it is said, lasted all night long and the downtown was active with people. After registering at any one of numerous places, one was ready for the convention. Stream of people poured into the city and by Monday night Detroit's population was swelled many thousands.

Monday morning the big event of the day was the short visit of President Hoover, whom we saw while he was being escorted to the Olympia, where crowds of people had been waiting from early morning. But it wasn't necessary to go to the Olympia for his voice resounded in the downtown district, by means of several amplifiers, and what he had to say was readily heard.

Tuesday morning long before the scheduled hour for the big parade, crowds began to assemble and when eleven o'clock came and the hour of the parade, the streets all along the line of march were a mass of people, packed from the curb to the buildings, and merchants found it necessary to reinforce their windows to keep them from being crashed in.

Nine hours is a long time to stay in one place to watch a parade, but it was so entrancing that one was loath to leave for fear of missing something. State after state passed in review and each outfit seemed grander than its predecessor. It would be hard to find words to describe the beauty of the uniformed bands and bugle corps; the music was superb, consisting mostly of the wartime airs, such as "Over There," etc. They in turn were cheered loud and long by the immense crowd.

The completion of the government's work will be the restoration of trade in this country. This being the case, it seems to me to be a hopeful and not a discouraging event, and one which brings the great work of the government much nearer to accomplishment."

"WHO'S WHO" IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN

By EDWARD SCHERMER
and WESLEY WAGNER

L. E. SCHRAM—GRAYLING

REPAIRS AND SERVICE STATION

The firm of L. E. Schram located at Grayling is regarded as one of the finest garages and service stations in this section. Since its inception about a year ago Mr. Schram has enjoyed a steady growth in the volume of business. The equipment is up to date and modern, and the work is guaranteed. A full line of parts and accessories can be had here and Texaco Products are handled exclusively. A good business in a good town.

J. F. SMITH—GRAYLING

STANDARD SERVICE STATION

The J. F. Smith Standard Service Station of Grayling was established in 1924 and is considered as one of the finest businesses of its kind in this section with 18 hours service and a full line of Standard Products in addition to Atlas and Dunlop Tires and Tubes and an up to date Battery Service.

Mr. J. F. Smith who has been a life long resident of Crawford County gives his own personal attention to the business which is one good reason for its success.

CASH & CARRY STORE—GRAYLING

M. HARTLEY

Altho this thriving establishment is but a comparative newcomer in the business ranks of this section, a large and flourishing business is carried on. The stock is large and well selected and the service is prompt and courteous.

A full line of poultry and dairy feeds are also kept on hand and sold at consistent prices.

Mrs. Hartley who gives her own personal attention to the business is a native born resident of Crawford County and deserves the support of all Crawford Countians.

BOB'S PLACE—GRAYLING

J. E. BUGBY

Since its inception in 1929—Bob's Place in Grayling on Highway US-27 operated by Mr. J. E. Bugby, has enjoyed a steady, consistent growth, catering to a large and increasing patronage, and offering a service second to none in this entire section. About 30 people can be accommodated and regular meals as well as short orders are served.

Mr. Bugby has lived in Crawford County for the past 16 years and is counted as one of our most esteemed business men.

D. E. WINER—VANDERBILT

DRUGGIST

The evolution of the drug store affords matter for an interesting study. Years ago, and not so many years ago at that, the drug store was just what the name implied; entirely dry and nothing more. It sold drugs and made medicines and nothing else. Local regulation of the business was also very lax. Today it is necessary to be a licensed pharmacist in order to compound a prescription and mostly all druggists, as is Dr. D. E. Winer of Vanderbilt, are graduates of colleges of pharmacy having devoted years of study to the profession in order to better serve you. No more haphazard methods in drug stores like this. Everything is done with definite care.

Today the modern drug store like Winer's carries a very diverse line of merchandise. Drugs, toilet articles, stationery, soda fountain, etc., comprise the contents of the store, all tastefully arranged and well displayed to make your shopping easier and more pleasant.

THE COMMUNITY STORE—JOHANNESBURG

ALFRED LARSEN

Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the most important thing in life is to know when to forego an advantage". Disraeli said that and he knew whereof he spoke. Two years ago Mr. Larsen saw the opportunity of buying this store here and he seized that opportunity. But the real success was never meant to be an advantage. Small advantages or large ones at the expense of the customer have never been permitted here. Opportunities arise in the management of any business and frequently the customer may never know it. But real success was never built on such tactics. Skyscrapers are not built on shifting sands. In The Community Store they are silk. If they're marked wool they are wool and if they're cotton, you're told so. A pound means sixteen ounces, and fresh means fresh. A yard still has thirty-six inches in it and they know the meaning of the word courtesy.

HOPE'S GARAGE—BELLAIRE

THOMAS LEE HOPE

It is no exaggeration to say that in the past year that automobile industry has witnessed and undergone changes of a revolutionary nature. Improvements and refinements of various kinds have made the automobile almost a perfect means of transportation. Notice the qualification, almost. The best automobile built requires repairing and always will. It is only a machine, made by human beings, and susceptible to certain weaknesses that cannot be helped.

Now the automobile has advanced, how about the garage man, the fellow who fixes them when they break. Has he advanced too? Has he kept pace with the machine he works on? Is he qualified to fix these new wrinkles that are cropping up every day?

Without reservation we can say that Hope's Garage at Bellaire meets all these requirements. Mr. Thomas Lee Hope made a study of cars and kept pace with the advent of all the latest inventions and improvements, and knows how to repair them. A modern garage for modern cars.

NOA BROTHERS—GAYLORD

FINE MEATS AND GROCERIES

A. F. AND FRANK NOA

Another independent merchant. Another Otsego County Booster. Another fine general store that is a creditable asset to the County. That is quite descriptive of Noa Brothers' store at Gaylord, a store that was opened in 1904, 26 years ago.

It is not because of selfish reasons that this store advocates the reign of the independent merchant. There is always room for good clean competition. But competition that does not start from the same level and in the same terms as its competitor is evidently unfair. Surely you agree with that as being sound logic.

Local business interests have an obligation to you, and their community. They should of course discharge these obligations with the utmost fairness. Their obligation to you is to sell you merchandise of quality at prices consistent with that quality—to give you in addition an efficient and courteous service and consideration. You are entitled to that and you get it here. The merchant's obligation to his community is equally great. He should support that community in all its worthwhile activities, should aid in all its ambitions, and help in all its troubles.

This firm has never shirked these responsibilities. Because it is a part and parcel of the community it has always gladly assumed them. Is not in turn then, entitled to a like consideration from you? Are not firms like this, the ones you should patronize? This is your home. Is it not then to your interests to support home stores that aid in the advancement of this, your home town?

A full line of poultry and dairy feeds are also kept on hand and sold at consistent prices.

Mrs. Hartley who gives her own personal attention to the business is a native born resident of Crawford County and deserves the support of all Crawford Countians.

FRANK M. WRIGHT

Motorists are rapidly becoming skeptics—or perhaps there is a better word or phrase than that to use. That is not quite what I mean to say. Rather, might I say, motorists from Missouri show them that's better. When a motorist sees something with his eyes he does not always believe it, for he's a pretty shrewd bird, is that motorist.

For instance, he sees many signs that reads Service Station but he does not believe them all, for he's a materialist too, in that motorist. When he sees a sign that reads Service Station, that's what he expects to be—a Service Station, where you get Service. Note the capital S. You might fool him in once—but you won't get him back in again, for he's a sensitive bird too, is that motorist and he doesn't like a lie. Of course he knows that all Service Stations sell gas and oil and accessories, but he knows also that all Service Stations don't give service, for he's a knowing one, is that motorist.

He likes little things done for him like fitting the radiator and putting air in his tires or water in the battery. He calls these little favors Service and he likes them.

Now then, The Indian Trail Service Station at Gaylord is run by a pretty keen fellow too. He knows that the motorist likes these little attentions and he sees that they get them. The Indian Trail Service Station sells Gas and Oil and Accessories, but they give SERVICE.

CENTRAL LAKE EXCHANGE

STEVENSON & STEPHENS, EST. 1894

There are probably few, if any, industries or business houses that are of more economic importance to the civic and industrial welfare of this community than the Central Lake Exchange of Central Lake.

In ways too numerous to mention and frequently in ways unknown to the general public, does this bank ply its efforts to make this a bigger and better town. You see today bank is no longer just a clearing house for funds. Rather, it is a clearing house for everything that will create general welfare.

It disseminates information, gives advice, helps good advice and lends assistance to various industries that may seek to locate here and to others already located here. On good security, it lends money for many purposes that materially aid in this town's progress. In fact it always offers to lend money to local interests that will leave their money here.

The Central Lake Exchange is also a depository for much of the wealth of this section. Ample means of protection to safeguard your interest are provided and a very liberal rate of interest is paid on both savings and checking accounts.

Central Lake Exchange also represents many old line insurance companies, both for fire insurance and auto.

When goods are marked silk in The Community Store they are silk. If they're marked wool they are wool and if they're cotton, you're told so.

A pound means sixteen ounces, and fresh means fresh. A yard still has thirty-six inches in it and they know the meaning of the word courtesy.

YUILL BROS.—VANDERBILT

BILT

GENERAL REAL ESTATE, LOGGING SERVICE STATION

One of the oldest firms in Otsego County.

When I first passed the establishment of Yuill Bros. at Vanderbilt, one of the best known firms in Otsego County and previous to my interview with him, I said to myself, "This is a successful business". At the time I thought no more of it, but later it seemed to me that I was losing sight of much that was of interest. I recalled having seen a play, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse". The name of the play meant little or nothing. One had to look deeper to find the true story, and then it became a remarkable portrayal of life itself; life of any kind and in any era. The play featured four characters, each of which was symbolic of conditions in life, namely: Famine, Disease, Death, and War. You will note they are all destructive and ugly.

Here we have something creative, and far more worthy and a direct antithesis, a successful business, and unlike the other, it symbolizes essential conditions that make up this real story, namely: Integrity of Purpose, Quality of Merchandise, Best Service, and Fair Prices. With out these essentials, the firm of Yuill Bros. would have been like any other

THE BACKBONE OF NORTHERN MICHIGAN

The title for this article has been selected only after the subject had been given much thought and consideration. It was our desire that the title should be significant of the basic value of the community; that it should be descriptive of the real commercial strength and life of the community; that in brief it should be a story sufficient in itself, requiring no elaboration. The word BACKBONE is used advisedly. If you study it carefully you will agree that it has a wealth of meaning and we feel justified in using it in its most liberal sense, for it is our conviction that these men of whom we write are the real BACKBONE of Northern Michigan.

The various stores, garages and other industries included in these columns, embrace places of distribution for nearly all of life's necessities and many of its luxuries and their importance to the civic and industrial welfare of this section cannot be overestimated. Most of these stores are owned and controlled by men living within the confines of the community and all of them without exception are conducted by men who live in this section, men who have the welfare and interests of this community deeply imbedded in their hearts. All of them are competent and capable business men who have by their combined and individual efforts given this section business places that are second to none in the STATE, for the quality of merchandise sold, the service rendered and the careful courteous treatment of its patrons. The writer has no hesitancy in making these assertions. These business houses require no exaggerated truths. They are sufficiently good without them.

Men and places of this kind have placed the name of this community upon a high plane, a lofty pinnacle of moral, civil and industrial standing and as long as men of this type elect to transact business here just so long will this section maintain that enviable position.

One must remember that successful business houses are an absolute essential to the progress of any community. In fact a community cannot exist without them. The they are dependent on your support, you and your community are in turn dependent on them, and a perfect spirit of co-operation between you makes the ideal thriving community.

M. C. DOTY—ATLANTA
GENERAL STORE

G. PETERSON, MGR.

The radical is rarely a success. Few men, very few, of radical tendencies ever amounted to much, and a business conducted along radical lines will experience considerable difficulty in making worthwhile progress.

Because M. C. Doty is an advocate of the wise policy of trading with local merchants, does not mean that he is radical. Rather, it is conclusive proof that he is conservative for surely there is no more sensible thing to do than patronizing a local merchant.

Mr. Doty has been in the general store business here at Atlanta for 13 years, ever since 1918, but I do not think his advocacy of this policy is at all selfish or prejudiced. I'm sure it is his sincere belief that it is to the best interests of everyone to buy at home with a home town merchant; that the buyer in the long run will profit as well as the merchant, and with that view we are in perfect accord.

H. E. MORRISON—WEST BRANCH*BUICK SALES & SERVICE
JOHN DEERE FARM MACHINERY

There is an old adage, "A man is judged by the company he keeps," and generally speaking it is a reliable barometer and gauge by which to judge a man. Isn't one justified to judge a firm or business man by the products he sells or the service he renders the public? That comparison is not unreasonable, is it? It is quite reasonable to suppose that a firm which has chosen with much care, after deliberate study, the automobile they are going to sell, is a good firm to do business with. You are at least assured that they are themselves sold on the car. They selected it of their own volition. They had a large field to select from and the Buick was the choice of that field.

Now consider this a moment. Mr. H. E. Morrison selected this car as a means of livelihood and a medium of service to you. They invested their money—efforts—and experience in it. In fact they put all their interest in them good angle for you to accept the judgement of men like these in the choice of your car. Shouldn't you at least afford them the opportunity to demonstrate to you many advantages to you, to show you its fine points as they know them and of which you may not be aware? Call on the phone, any time, will bring one of their representatives to your door with a shining new Buick car.

For 24 years, ever since its beginning, this store, managed by Mr. O. W. Scott, has always felt that it had a purpose to fulfill—an obligation to the people from whom it was to derive its existence, an obligation that went even deeper than just to provide merchandise at a price. It has always been a store of ideas and ideals; ideals that have contributed as much as anything else to the success it now enjoys.

Mr. Scott has always had in mind TO BUILD BETTER—TO BUILD MORE DURABLY—TO BUILD MORE DEPENDABLY—a name that would endure. These have been the aims of Hughston & Co. These obligations to you were self-assumed, and we feel that they have been faithfully carried out in every way. We feel that this store has justified the confidence that the people of Missaukee County have placed in it. We know that it will continue to merit that confidence.

WOMEN: watch your BOWELS

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsi is so good for women. It suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let there be every time their tongues are coated or they skin is sallow. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepain, and other bowel less ingredients. When you're sick and need a cathartie, eat a spoonful of sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all drug stores keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

When one studies the business career of the Lewiston Market Association, it is difficult to give credence to the generally accepted opinion that business is a hard cold-blooded proposition with no romance attached to it. If there is any romantic glamour about any business, then this enterprise at Lewiston abounds with it. Its history from its inception in 1919 would make excellent material for the plot of an American novel depicting the rise of a American business man.

No haphazard or slipshod methods of mechanical repairs are tolerated here. Whether it is a small minor repair, or a complete overhauling of Palmer's Garage does it with that painstaking care and thoroughness that are characteristic of the master workman in any field of endeavor; work that makes you realize what a fine garage this is. Mr. Palmer knows no other way to do it. It must be done right or not at all. You'll come back again if Palmer's Garage does it.

Everybody is willing to have it rain and put out the fires.

Saturday afternoon T. E. Douglas opened the doors of the pavilion for his daughter Margaret who had invited about 40 guests to spend the afternoon with her. They had full possession of the lawn as well as the pavilion. The weather was fine.

The little ones were swinging and playing, the time passing swiftly by, when Miss Margaret announced that luncheon was ready, and on this occasion Mrs. T. E. Douglas had shown her liberality by providing an immense birthday cake. Miss Margaret was allowed to trim the cake with candy, and Margaret showed her generous disposition by covering that cake with candy. No vacant spots left, the sides all round as well as the top were covered with candy, so each guest had a liberal supply of candy as well as cake. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the little ones and no one seemed to enjoy the occasion more than Miss Margaret, when she cut the cake on her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Dr. Montgomery came from Chicago last Saturday to look over matters at their big Beaver Creek farm, on learning that the lessor, Mr. Baker had skipped out, and that contracts had not been fulfilled.

CENTRAL LAKE CAN-

E. B. GILL, PRES.

It is hardly within the realm of conceivable possibilities that when M. E. B. Gill started this enterprise in 1902, he imagined it would attain the sizeable proportions it has already reached—and—the probable heights it will undoubtedly mount to in the future. Its previous years of business activity are only the stepping stones leading to much greater things that are in store for this enterprising concern.

Success of this kind is not lightly earned, only hard work could achieve it, hard-work and high-grade work and high grade merchandise.

M. E. B. Gill has spent most of his life in Antrim County and has always been actively identified with its various civic activities. When a movement meant a better Central Lake or Antrim County, M. E. B. Gill was always behind it.

LON COLLEN—Grayling POCKET BILLIARDS

Any firm like that of Mr. Lon Collier of Grayling, which has attained the height of business success is, in a sense, to be envied. Yet there is based upon the successful business man an obligation that never ends, that he must constantly strive to meet and that is persistent is his demands on him. Success is not a destination; it is not a goal. It is never fully attained in life. Success is an achievement, first to be attained and then to be maintained; and in its permanent maintenance only does it become a achievement. Permanent is a very definite word. It means constant, always. —New location—Fischer Bldg.

WEATHER LORE

People began "spenking" of the weather a long time ago. The first scientific treatise on the weather, says the United States Weather Bureau, was written by Aristotle more than 300 years before the Christian era. The Weather Bureau Library, which is the largest meteorological collection in the world, has a big book on the weather by Albertus Magnus, printed in 1494, and a facsimile of a weather journal kept by the Rev. William Merle, of England, who recorded the weather day by day from 1337 to 1344. The first weather records in America, so far as known, were kept by the Rev. Johann Campanius, who recorded the weather each day in the colony of New Sweden, on near the present site of Wilmington, Del., for the years 1644 and 1645.

Mrs. Pressler Uses Long Swing With Results

MRS. HARRY PRESSLER, WESTERN WOMAN CHAMPION.

Mrs. Harry Pressler, one of California's best, has cultivated a remarkably long swing which stands her in good stead. Most women golfers overswing. It is a hard task to overcome with the fair sex who, lacking the strength of a man, believe that only a long swing will give them the desired results.

Mrs. Pressler is one who can control this swing and keep it in a groove and she gets the most out of her swing, too. This is one of the difficulties of golf, but this California player, somewhatimitating Bobby Jones, can keep her drives so well timed that she fears no evil consequences.

REDUCE HUNTING CASUALTIES

Michigan's annual toll of from 50 to 60 casualties during the hunting season can be materially reduced by common sense in the woods, according to the Department of Conservation.

The Department's reports on hunting accidents show that practically all of them are caused by carelessness.

Most of the self-inflicted wounds have resulted from hunters picking up their guns by pulling the barrels toward them. The tendency of some hunters to shoot at anything that moves is perhaps the major cause of major hunting accidents in Michigan.

Last year 27 were killed and 35 injured during the hunting season. Eighteen were killed and 22 were injured before the opening of the deer season.
